The essays are to be written some time between March 15 and April 15 and the winning articles must be in the hands of the director of the Extension Department of the University, Prof. Wellington Patrick, by April 20. Essays are limited to 1,500 words and are to be written on one of the following three subjects: "James Lane Allen" (either biography or criticism of his work); "Suggestions for Improvement of My Home Town"; "Why I Wish to Attend the University of Kentucky."

The students are to be given ample time to gather material from all sources, but the actual writing must be done in the school room in the presence of the teacher.

BONUS BILL IS REPORTED TO SENATE

Is Made Payable to Soldiers in 1923 and Question of Taxes Passed to Next Congress

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Feb. 26.—With its tax provisions eliminated, the soldiers' bonus bill was reported to the senate today by the finance committee. The bonus will be payable Jan. 1, 1921. The question of taxes to meet the cost of the bill is left with the next congress.

Aside from striking out the tax provision the committee made little change in the house bill, retaining five options of a cash bonus based on length of service, deferred certificates, farm and home aid and vocational training. Senator McCumber, in charge of the bill, plans to call it up probably next week. Several senators gave notice of opposition. Senators Gerry and Jones indicated they would seek to have the bill immediately effective by restoring its taxation provisions.

When the bonus bill was reported it became known today that one of the plans for financing compensation to former service men was to use the interest on the ten billion dollars of American war loans to the Allies.

Prisoner Took Good Recommendations To Pen

Lloyd Jennings, 30, was received at the Frankfort reformatory from Rockcastle county to serve three years for wilful murder. Jennings was convicted for the murder of Frank Smith, at Cooksburg, on July 21, 1920. Jennings' plea was self defence, alleging that Smith came to his house and the presence of his wife, threatened his life.

A petition containing the signature of every officer of Rockcastle county, was presented to the prison officials, stating that Jennings could be given a position of trust. The petition stated that Jennings had been a resident of Rockcastle county since his birth, and that up to the time of the murder of Smith, that he had been a citizen who had the highest respect for law and order.

Wm. Johnson, 50, accompanied Jennings to the prison. He was sent up for one year on a malicious cutting and wounding charge.

ROAD BONDS GOOD IF DELAYED IN ISSUAL

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 26.—Affirming the Trimble circuit court in the case of R. C. Young against the fiscal court of Trimble county, the Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled today that the fiscal court had the authority to issue $23,000 of bonds by virtue of an election conducted in 1916 in which the county was authorized to issue $90,000 in bonds for constructing and repaving roads and bridges in Trimble county. Only $45,000 of the $90,000 authorized was issued following the election, and recently it was decided to issue an additional $23,000.

The question arose whether the court had the right to issue the additional bonds or whether it had lost its right by not issuing all of them at once.

The court ruled that the county had not lost its right by waiting four years to issue a part of the bonds.

FATHERS AND SONS BANQUET TOGETHER

Delightful Fellowship Enjoyed at First Affair of the Kind Ever Held Here

About 250 of the fathers and sons of Richmond gathered around banquet tables at the Masonic Temple Friday night. After enjoying a very delicious repast served in faultless style by the ladies of the churches headed by Mrs. J. H. Dean, they were entertained and edited by several fathers and several sons, who gave intimate and original observations of each other, in a way that, perhaps, is not often done. Everybody enjoyed this feature of the program, and that which followed, an address by Dr. A. W. Fortune, of Lexington. His subject was "The Story of Any Man and Any Boy," and what he said went right to the heart of every father present and impressed the sons, also, it was easily seen by the earnestness of the attention that even the tiniest of those present gave him throughout.

Dr. Homer W. Carpenter acted as toastmaster, in his usual pleasing style. He always knows how to say the right thing at the right time. No preacher anywhere has more of gift of getting close to men and boys in every walk of life than this popular minister. He called upon Dr. W. O. Sadler, of the Methodist church, for the opening prayer, and afterward noted that Dr. Sadler had asked for "enlarged capacity" for the men and boys of Richmond. Dr. Carpenter said that it might be physically as well as spiritually necessary in view of the bountiful dinner that the ladies had provided.

Mrs. Dean and her committee ladies were all beautiful in white and they had things arranged with such system that all of the big crowd was speedily served with the delicious menu, which consisted of old ham, croquets, fresh peas, Saratoga chips, hot rolls, coffee, and ice cream and cake. The tables were attractively decorated with candelabra, red candles, Miss Mary Lurie Kunkle played during the evening. Those who assisted Mrs. Dean in her department, which was handled so capably, were Mesdames W. O. Mays, Shelton Sauley, T. D. Chenault, Jr., H. W. Carpenter, W. Overton Harber, Harry Blanton, C. H. Park, R. B. Terrill, Homer Whittington, Joel Park, Alma Gentry, James Shaw, F. H. Gordon, Allen Zaring, Robert R. Burnam, Jr., T. C. McGowan, Wm. P. Milard, A. R. Denny, Henry Cosby, S. J. McGaughey, J. S. Head, Misses Louise Terrill, Sara Shackelford, Hester Covington and Cynthia Davison.

Much applause greeted each speaker and a bunch of cheer boys, led by Henry Arnold, gave a touch of college spice to the occasion. Sam Deatherage sang a couple of beautiful solos during the evening. He has a magnificent voice.

Henry Arnold was the first of the sons called upon by the toastmaster. His subject was "A Fellow's Dad," and he told everyone that though many do not realize it, he is a fellow's best friend.

Wm. Blanton, speaking on "Comradeship," said that this is the secret of much happiness in a young boy's life; that it often means everything to have one's father a comrade to him.

Coleman Oldham gave the big crowd a laugh when he told what he would do "Were I in My Father's Shoes." He pointed out that like boys, "most dads have a night off." Young Oldham rung in some original verse in closing his remarks that were to the point and greatly enjoyed.

Burnell Martin followed with the subject "Father and Son—Chums," and made a nice talk for perhaps the smallest boy on the program.

Leslie P. Evans, Jr., told "What a Son's Dad Doesn't Know," and urged that the fathers make home more attractive to their sons. He closed with a rising toast on the part of the sons to their fathers.

Then his father, Mayor L. P. Evans, Sr., told "What a Father's Son Doesn't Know," and gave everyone present something serious to think about in the great problem.

FATHERS' AND SONS' BANQUET

lem of rearing a son in the way that he should go. He urged every dad to make up his mind to be a chum to his son; to get closer to his boy; not pay so much attention to business that he won't be interested in everything that interests his son. Mr. Evans told the boys that experience will be the greatest teacher that they can have, no matter what their fathers may tell them of life and its problems. But he prophesied truly, that the time will come in the lives of each of them when they will pay more attention to what fathers tell them, and will realize in after years that father knew what he was talking about. Mayor Evans then called upon the fathers to rise and drink a toast to their sons.

Dr. Fortune's address then followed, and was a gem throughout. He declared that the relationship of father and son is the holiest fellowship on earth. He said that it used to be said that "spare the rod and spoil the child" but nowadays he didn't think that that rod made for companionship. He then told the story of Any Boy and Any Man, and brought the lesson home personally to every man and every boy who heard him. He gave fathers a new realization of their duties and responsibilities toward their growing sons, and undoubtedly made the sons look upon the "old man" in a new light.

Dr. Carpenter said in closing remarks, that he believed that the fathers and sons of Richmond are ready to enter into a covenant of fellowship and intimacy that they have perhaps never had before, after experiencing such a delightful evening together and having the lessons of life as it comes to each and all, presented to them in such an effective and appealing way.

The evening was closed with a prayer by Dr. R. L. Telford.

In addition to Dr. Fortune, another out-of-town guest of the evening was B. C. Miller, of the State Y. M. C. A., at Louisville, who was introduced as responsible for the Father and Son banquet idea in Kentucky.

Mrs. W. H. Grider will do business at the old stand, is a very significant announcement for it represents a garden of loveliness.
For several years Mrs. Grider has had the flower table at the P. A.
C. Infirmary Easter bazaar, and now ranks as an horticultural accessory. If you ask her "how does her garden grow?" you will learn that this season she will have a blue ribbon flower show. A great assortment of cut flowers, potted plants and bulbs.

The following committee will assist you to "say it with flowers":
Mesdames Sallie Yates, McKee,
Gilby Yokins, Robert Burnam,
James Burnam, and Paul Burnam and Misses Emma Watts, Jennie Parker, Lucille Crooke and Bessie Miller.

Mrs. Grider will also have a Lilliputian postoffice, presided over by a non-partisan postmistress, who will have parcel post packages for everyone, regardless of "age, sex, or previous condition of servitude." These packages will contain many surprises:
you may draw anything—from popcorn to pearls. A special delivery for everyone at Uncle Sam's regulation price—ten cents.

sessing a city license tax of 50 cents a hogshead on various ware-

Meets Death In Warehouse

Harrodsburg, Ky., Feb. 26.—
Marshall Smith, 28 years old, an employee of the Cogar Grain and Coal Company, was instantly killed at one of the large wheat warehouses belonging to the company. He was going up on an elevator and looked over the side and his head was caught and crushed between the floor and elevator and the floor of the building. His neck was broken and death was instantaneous.

Raymond Noel, an insurance agent, brother of J. P. Noel, who a few years ago ran in the Democratic primary for governor, just escaped being killed. When the negro who was running the elevator realized the accident he reversed the elevator so quickly that as it descended it almost caught Mr. Noel, crushing his hat.

MOLLIE, CRANK THE COW!

Our Henry Ford's decided that the cow's a wasteful actor.
That as a milk machine she's punk, and nothing like a tractor.
So now he'll build a cow of tin, and what makes it even odder,
He'll fix it up to chew the cud of hay and other fodder.

Efficiency will rule the farm, as in factories it's doing,
When from the pastures we can hear a herd of tractors mooing.

The motorcows will have their horns, but not the kind that stick you
And while the crank may crack your wrist, they'll have no legs to kick you.

And in daily speech he motorcow will also be a factor;
No more we'll say "he throws the bull," but now "he throws the tractor."

And the farm garage at milking time will be a pleasant vision—
The milkmaids in their overalls all cranking with precision.

Into the pails synthetic milk will froth in bubbling rivers,
Below a sign that tells the world: Milk From Contented Flivvers.

Frocks Interpret Childhood

SO LONG as the styles in little girls' frocks interpret little girlhood, it will not be necessary for them to cast about for anything startlingly new—no matter how simple they are, they enable an instant appeal. It is the simplicity and childishness of this spring's offerings that commend them to mothers. They have variety also to offer and many pretty details of finish that endear them to the children. The newest among these finishings is found in "sampler" trimmings. Canvas bands with flowers worked in cross-stitch on them, in gay colors like the old-fashioned samplers of a century ago, serve to make belts, bands and tabs that set off many pretty chambray dresses and aprons.

In gingham small checks and cross-hairs are favored with plain chambray used for collars and other accessories, and for trimmings. The plain chambray also provides short bloomers.

The order is reversed in dresses of plain chambray with collars and other accessories of checked or cross-hair gingham, but the knickers with these dresses are of the plain material also.

DYNAMITE THREAT SPURS DRY AGENTS

Tompkinsville, Ky., Feb. 26.—As a sequel to the placing of dynamite at their doors and the receipt of threatening notes by scores of citizens of this city and county prohibition agents and county officers raided Coe Ridge, the most lawless settlement in southwestern Kentucky.

Every person in the settlement, one of the wildest sections in the state, inhabited by half-breeds, a mixture of negro and Indian blood, was arrested. The officers used force to compel them to disclose the hiding place of the stills. A vast amount of whisky and 400 gallons of beer were seized.

The raid was led by Noah Reed, prohibition agent who found dynamite attached to the door of his hotel room. The note said:

"Leave town at once or you will be blown up."

Mr. Reed organized a raiding party, consisting of Prohibition Agent McFarland and Deputy Sheriffs Keys and Hutchins. So quietly was the raid executed the Coe Ridge band was surprised and forced to surrender before it could offer resistance.

The raid was followed by a mass meeting in a church here, at which resolutions were adopted in which citizens pledged themselves to assist prohibition agents and called on lawyers of the town not to defend anyone arrested for liquor violations.

The Coe Ridge settlement has been inhabited for more than a half century by lawless half-breeds, descendants of an Indian squaw who lived there.

In only one instance has there been an actual attempt to blow up a home. A stick of dynamite, with a partly burned fuse, was found at the door of Judge Jackson, a lawyer, whose son-in-law, a taxicab driver, has given information against moonshiners.

ON OTHER FLOORS

Maysville—Market steady to strong. Top price $63. Quality largely common. Receipts light. Liberty House sold 202,110 lbs. at $14.70 average. Peoples House sold 169,570 pounds at $14.02 average.

Shelbyville — Market steady. Star House sold 300,000 pounds at average of $14.02; Burley No. 1, 266,845 pounds at $14.08. Range $1 to $64. Few rejections, receipts low.

Swope May Take Fight On Richardson To House

Washington, Feb. 26.—Deputy Collector W. Vernon Richardson, Danville, conferred with officials of the Internal Revenue Bureau here today in regard to charges filed against him by Representative King Swope, Eighth Kentucky district, alleging that Mr. Richardson violated the regulations against federal employees engaging in political activities.

The charges were preferred by the Congressman in connection with an editorial in a Danville paper, said to have been written by Mr. Richardson.

The conference was private, but Mr. Richardson said tonight that the writer of the editorial had given an affidavit that Mr. Richardson did not see it until it was published in the newspaper.

Representative Swope, it is said has informed Internal Revenue Bureau officials that unless Mr. Richardson is dismissed, he will discuss the matter on the floor of the House.

Struck An Iceberg

Boston, Feb. 26.—The liner Princess Matoika, with 2,000 passengers from Naples and Genoa, struck an iceberg off the Newfoundland coast Thursday night. It drifted helplessly for seven hours but finally was brought under control, according to a radio message today.

AT THE MOVIES

"Blind Love"

Bacon production, six parts, featuring Lucy Cotton. The production is lavish and photography and lighting effects excellent. Miss Cotton is lovely as Josephine. She screens well, wears some very attractive gowns and gives a sincere and convincing performance.

The picture has good entertainment value and will score with the majority of audiences on its romantic appeal. Shown at the local theatres Saturday.

Taylor Picture Real Sensation

Lewis "Huckleberry" Sargent, so dubbed because of his splendid portrayal of Mark Twain's immortal boy creation, in "Huckleberry Finn," is once more the hero in a new screen comedy drama, "The Soul of Youth," which promises to keep the house packed at the local theatres Tuesday.

Young Sargent, in this picture, has a role altogether different in type from that of his initial screen appearance. In this he is the modern boy of the city streets reared in a dreary foundling home, without father or mother, but who, when opportunity arises and he is given a real chance in life, shows sterling qualities of character, and with the addition of a goodly share of pluck and mettle, becomes a real hero and an important figure in the affairs of grown-up men and women.

Sargent is surrounded by a cast of unusual merit, many members of which are famous not only for screen work but for achievements in other fields. Ernest Butterworth, Clyde Fillmore, Lila Lee, Wm. Collier, Jr., Horace Wade, Claude Peyton, Betty Schade, Fred Huntley, Sylvia Ashton and others offer. Particular interest attaches to the fact that Judge Ben Lindsey, the well known juvenile jurist, and his charming wife, Mrs. Ben Lindsey, also participate in several scenes in the picture.

To Pen For Pistol Toting

Warren Burnett, of Lee county, who was convicted at the last term of the Lee circuit court on a charge of second offense of carrying a concealed weapon, and who was later taken to the Winchester jail for safekeeping while his appeal was pending, has decided not to appeal, and at his request he was taken to Frankfort by Deputy Sheriff S. R. Powell to begin his sentence of one year in the state prison, says the Irvine Times. Burnett is one of the first to receive this sentence in the Estill circuit court.

Winnes's Friends Donate

Winnes, of Cincinnati, former assistant state veterinarian, who believe that he is innocent of the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, have collected $713 from friends in Harlan. This fund will be turned over to him to be used in his second trial next April.

Reclaiming Lots of Land

Bardwell, Ky., Feb. 25.—Work has been started on the Mayfield Creek drainage ditch, said to be the largest drainage project ever started in Kentucky and which is expected to cost half a million dollars and reclaim thousands of acres of land in Western Kentucky. It is expected it will take 30 months to complete the work.

Large Still Destroyed

By Hugh Samuels

The still was found on a farm four miles from Columbia. It was destroyed. Ted Hopper, who lives nearby was arrested and charged with illicit distilling. Warrants will be issued for two other men, Mr. Samuels said.

BALMY PEACE

"IN THE sylvan solitudes," said the wild man of the woods, "a man doesn't see any magazines and doesn't receive any bulletins from the health authorities, so he enjoys a peace that is never known in the busy haunts."

"There a man simply has to subscribe for a lot of magazines, as a matter of self-defense. Canvassers are after him all the time. Some of the canvassers are lone widows with many children to support, and others are energetic young men who are trying to work their way through the veterinary college."

They are deserving people, and you feel it a duty to help them along, so the first thing you know your mail box is jammed full of literature. Having paid for it, you feel that you ought to read it, and your life is ruined thereby. "When I was young, the magazines tried to entertain people. They had good stories and a Poet's Corner, and a department devoted to timely jokes, and another to household hints and domestic recipes. There was some sense in reading a magazine then, for it soothed and sustained you. But nowadays the magazine editors consider it their duty to harrow your soul and make your hair stand on end like quills upon the porcupine's back, or words to that effect. They are always viewing with alarm, and trying to convince you that you take your life in your hand every five minutes."

"They have a lot of health specialists writing for them, and these health sharps point out that pretty near everything you eat and drink is a deadly poison. They didn't scare me to any great extent, for I am a most intrepid man, but they soon had my wife so rattled she didn't know whether she was going or coming."

"I always was passionately fond of a good cup of coffee, and my wife could make the best coffee, you ever heard of. She went to work at it like a learned apothecary compounding a prescription. There was no guess work about it. She took an honest pride in it, and her coffee was a revelation to every consumer. I used to lie awake at night wishing it was breakfast time, so I could have my morning cup of coffee."

"But one morning when I went to the table the coffee was missing. In its place there was a sickly beverage I had never seen before. I asked an explanation, and my wife said that no more coffee would be made in our house. 'The wonder is,' said she, 'that we still live and move and have our being, for coffee is a rank poison. If you read Dr. Zinkfoogle's article in the Junkopolitan Magazine, you will see that coffee contains a large percentage of tannin, which is so deadly that if you place a drop on the tongue of an alligator, it will roll over, dead.'"

"I told her that I had no alligators on the premises, and consequently could not try the experiment, but I assured her that I didn't care anything about the poison. I wanted my coffee at regular hours. She said I'd have to keep on wanting. She thought too much of me to send me to an untimely grave. And, anyhow, she explained Dr. Zinkfoogle had told how to make a substitute for coffee that was perfectly wholesome. She had followed his instructions, and the result was before me. It didn't taste as good as coffee, but it was wholesome. It would fill my veins with red corpuscles and restore hair to my bald head. It was made of marrowfat peas which had been carefully roasted in a hot oven."

"In order to get a cup of coffee after that I had to make a sneak to the chop house, and the kind dished up there made me old before my time. My wife cut out all my favorite dishes because Dr. Zinkfoogle or some other magazine writer denounced them, and finally I was living on roasted peas and coffee and boiled spinach, and I concluded that if I had to feed like the cows I'd live like them, so I came to the forest fastnesses."

"Marriage Breaker" Busy.
One of the deplorable results of bolshevik misrule in Russia is the installing of a "breaker of marriages" in Petrograd, who is said to be granting more than 600 divorces a week. No investigation is necessary, the only requirement being the signature of the person desiring freedom from marriage.

A Helpful Hint.
"A-r-r-r-r!" growled a hypercritical customer in the rapid fire restaurant. "This confounded piece of meat is so tough I can hardly eat it!"
"Get it down on the floor where you can put your foot on it when you gnaw it," briskly returned Heloise, the waitress.—Kansas City Star.

The Difference.
"A good housewife is very different from a good husbandman."
"How so?"
"She is always sewing tears."

CAMPAIGN TO HELP SHEEP INDUSTRY

(By Associated Press)

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 25.—An extensive campaign including more than 60 demonstrations in 50 Kentucky counties for the purpose of showing the need of certain forms of care for lambs and the proper methods to be followed, will be started by the State College of Agriculture at Hickman, Fulton county, February 28, according to an announcement just made by R. C. Miller, sheep extension specialist of the College.

The complete schedule of demonstrations has not yet been made up, but the announcement made today gives the following dates and places: Henderson, March 2; Hopkinsville, March 3; Russellville, March 4; Bowling Green, March 5; Murray, March 7 and 8; Paducah, March 9; Mayfield, March 10, and Bardwell, March 11. The demonstrations will be under the direction of Mr. Miller who will be assisted by the county agents and local farmers.

The newly planned campaign is the beginning of an effort on the part of the state college, it was stated, to advance the sheep industry in the state. The sheep raisers of Kentucky have lost thousands of dollars annually through sending most of their sheep to market with long tails and the males not properly cared for, Mr. Miller said, and for this reason the demonstrations are to be held.

GREATEST DERBY FORECAST THIS YEAR

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 26.—Discussion of the nominees already announced for the Kentucky Derby to be run at Churchill Downs May 7 and speculation on their chances is under way among the turfmen, race track followers and plain Kentuckians hereabouts, always interested in thoroughbred racing.

The list of candidates includes H. F. Sinclair's Incheape, which was considered one of the best two-year-olds last year until he was retired because of a skin disease. He was purchased for the reported price of $125,000 from J. H. Rosseter, of California, and is now said to be conditioning very nicely.

Gray Lag, another Sinclair nominee, reported to have been purchased from Max Hirsch and J. E. Madden for $50,000, bears the distinction of having been entered in the Epsom Derby at Epsom Downs, near London, next June.

Tryster, in the stable of Harry Payne Whitney, started six times last year and never lost a race. His performance placed him at the top of the two-year-olds in amount of money won. Prudery, also in the Whitney string, was regarded as the best two-year-old filly of last season.

Edward F. Sims' Leonardo II is undefeated. He won four races, including the Hopeful stakes, worth more than $30,000, at Saratoga last summer.

W. J. Salmon's Careful, as a two-year-old filly, won 11 out of 17 starts.

Pluribus, bred by his owner, F. W. O'Brien, of Chicago, has won several stakes and Rangoon, a nominee of former United States Senator Johnson N. Camden, of Kentucky, was among the top-notch colts in the west last year.

United Verde, owned by C. W. Clark, a Montana mining millionaire, was purchased as a two-year-old for the reported price of $10,000 from Thomas Murphy, of Louisville. Records credit him with winning the Bashford Manor stakes from Oriole in the mud at Louisville last year. Oriole was accounted among the best on a heavy track. United Verde later was injured, but is now regarded near the top of his form.

Muskalonge, H. C. (Bud) Fisher's nominee, is credited with winning several stakes. He showed superior form at New Orleans as a two-year-old and already has outdistanced good horses as a three-year-old.

The derby is at a mile and a quarter for three-year-olds. It will carry $50,000 in added money and is expected to net the winner approximately $40,000.

Announcement of the full list of derby candidates which, according to indications, will number more than 100, is expected within a few days.

Saddle Horses Sold

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 26.—The annual February auction of the Kentucky Sales Company came to a close today when 73 head of saddle horses sold for a total of $14,923, average of $204.50 per head. The quality of the stock sold today was much lower grade than that offered yesterday when the first of the saddlers placed under the hammer and the prices were correspondingly lower. The total of 131 saddle horses sold during the two days' sale brought an average of $228.

When W. L. Stewart, of Pittsburgh, bought Janetta Dare, a black mare by My Dare, consigned by the local breeder, H. G. McElwaine, for $910. Mr. McElwaine was one of the best buyers in attendance at the sale.

An interested spectator at the sale was former United States Senator J. W. Wadsworth, of Geneseo, N. Y., who bought several saddlers for his own pleasure. The famous racehorse, Roseben, in his day the best sprinter in America, was used for some years by Senator Wadsworth's daughter, who kept him until his death about two years ago.

Caruso, the noted tenor, has sufficiently recovered from his near fatal illness to plan going to Europe in March.

Upon his retirement from the Senate next week it is reported that Senator Beckham will locate in Louisville to practice law.

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY

HOW KENTUCKY COUNTIES WERE NAMED

(Some interesting data prepared by the Associated Press with the assistance of the state librarian at Frankfort from histories and documents in the library. Additional sketches will appear from time to time. The series begins with the nine original counties.)

Lincoln—Organized in May, 1780, as one of the first three counties operated when the District of Kentucky was carved out of Fincastle county, Va.; county seat Stanford. Named for Gen. Benjamin Lincoln, a distinguished Revolutionary officer. At the time of its formation the county contained about one-third of the state, running from Cumberland Gap to the Mississippi river and containing all of Kentucky lying south of the Kentucky river and south and west of Green river. Now a small county because of many counties cut out of it. Harrodsburg was the original county seat and here the first court ever held in Kentucky was organized January 16, 1781. Stanford became the county seat in 1785.

Jefferson—Organized in May, 1780, as one of the first three counties created when the District of Kentucky was carved out of Fincastle county, Va. County seat Louisville. Named for Thos. Jefferson, then governor of Virginia. It embraced "that part of the south side of the Kentucky river which lies west and north of a line beginning at the mouth of Benson's Big Creek, and running up the same and its main ford to the head; thence south to the nearest waters of Hammond's Creek and down the same to its junction with the Town Fork of Salt river; thence south to Green river and down the same to its junction with the Ohio," said Collins' history of Kentucky quoting the original act. Twenty-eight other counties have been carved out of it.

Fayette—Organized in 1780 as one of the first three counties when the District of Kentucky was created when the District of Kentucky was carved out of Fincastle county, Va. County seat Lexington. Named for General Montmorency de LaFayette, French soldier who aided the United States during the Revolutionary war. Originally included all that territory beginning at the mouth of the Kentucky river and extending up its middle fork to the headwaters and embracing the northern and eastern portion of the state.

Nelson—Formed in 1784 by the Virginia Assembly. Fourth county formed. County seat Bardonia. Named for former Governor Nelson, of Virginia. Eighteen counties have since been formed in whole or part from it. When formed it occupied all of the territory between the Salt and Green rivers as far east as what is now the line of Washington county.

Bourbon—Formed in 1785 by the Virginia Assembly. Fifth county formed. Named for the Bourbon family of France, a prince who added colonies with men and money in the Revolutionary war. County seat Paris. This county gave its name to the famous "Bourbon" whisky with which Kentucky was for more than 125 years associated. The first distillery was erected in this county in 1790 by Jacob Speares and others of Pennsylvania.

Mercer—Formed in 1785 by the Virginia legislature. Sixth county formed. Named in honor of Gen. Hugh Mercer. Harrodsburg, the county seat, is said to be the oldest town in Kentucky and is the oldest county seat, having been the original county seat

WHEAT CROP SHOWS 100 PCT. CONDITION

(Lexington Leader)

Representative millers from all over Central Kentucky were in Lexington Thursday to attend the mid-winter meeting of the Central Kentucky Millers' Association, which was held at the Lafayette Hotel. C. H. Petrey, of Mt. Sterling, is president and John D. Allen, of Lexington, secretary and treasurer.

According to reports presented to the meeting the 1921 wheat crop in this territory shows a 90 per cent acreage and 100 per cent condition, based on pre-war estimate. It was stated that this year's acreage is a decided increase over that of last year, which is regarded as a most encouraging showing.

The morning session was devoted to an informal discussion of crop and credit conditions in which the members participated. Among those who spoke at some length were President Petrey, of Mt. Sterling, and J. W. Morrison, of the Lexington Roller Mills. An adjournment was taken at noon for luncheon, which was served at special tables in the main dining room of the hotel. About 50 members of the association were present.
